Dear Colleagues,

following the successful sequence of Cretaceous Symposia after the remarkable “9th International Meeting on the Cretaceous System”, which took place at the Middle East Technical University in Ankara, Turkey in 2013, the “10th International Symposium on the Cretaceous” is going to take place in Vienna for the second time after 17 years (the 6th ISC was held in Vienna in 2000), thereby continuing a tradition of symposia that bring together researchers on all kinds of Cretaceous topics.

Herewith, we cordially like to invite you to participate in the 10th International Symposium on the Cretaceous going to take place during August 21–26, 2017, Vienna, Austria.

We would also like to invite you to propose themes and session topics for this meeting until August 31, 2016.

Please save the date, spread this information among colleagues, and link the website (<http://10cretsymp.univie.ac.at/>). The website will be supplemented step-by-step with relevant information on the meeting during 2016.

Sincerely,

Michael Wagreich and Benjamin Sames
(on behalf of the organizing committee)
